

I am extremely concerned about Sinclair forcing their stations to air an Anti-Kerry documentary. I thought it was the medias responsibility to report the news to the country not try and force their opinions on the audience. I am extremely concerned about the power that large companies like this have in having an affect on something as important as the election of the President of the United States. The citizens have a hard enough time filtering through all the spin and gray areas to try and arrive at the truth about a situation. I feel the media is doing the citizens an injustice by getting involved in the politics of the country by trying to effect the outcome with unknowns and half truths. Please do what you can to see that what the Americans hear and read is not being effected by a large conglomerate like Sinclair.

Thanks
